PRINCIPAL REASONS FOR THE DECISION

The disputed domain name contains the Complainant's trademark "BOURSORAMA". The domain also contains the generic word "CLIENTS" and the letter "M" which is not enough to differ the disputed domain name from the trademark belonging to the Complainant. The hyphens and the ".COM" suffix are to be disregarded when assessing confusing similarity between domain names and trademark rights.

The Panel finds that the disputed domain name "M-CLIENTS-BOURSORAMA.COM" is confusingly similar to the Complainant's trademark.

No administratively compliant Response has been filed by the Respondent and in accordance with the UDRP Rule 5(f) the Panel must then decide the dispute based upon the Complaint, in the absence of exceptional circumstances. It is up to the Panel to decide whether the Complainant has made out a prima facie case, meaning that the Panel is not bound to transfer the disputed domain name to the Complainant solely based on the lack of Response by the Respondent. On the other hand the Panel takes into consideration that the Respondent did have time to file a Response but chose not to.

The disputed domain name was registered on 24 July 2017 and that the Complaint was filed on 28 July 2017. The Respondent had only been the proprietor of the disputed domain name for four days before the Complaint was filed. The Panel is not asserted that four days of "non-use" is in itself enough for the Complainant to have established a prima facie case of lack of rights or legitimate interests of the Respondent.

The Panel has conducted its own investigation at the time of the Decision and concluded that the Respondent is still not actively using the disputed domain name.

The question of a short period of "non-use" of the disputed domain name by a Respondent has been discussed in UDRP decision no. 101453, where the Panel decided that two weeks of "non-use" combined with the fact that the disputed domain could be interpreted as a generic word, lead the Panel to conclude that the Complainant had not to the satisfaction of the Panel shown that the Respondent had no legitimate rights or interest in the disputed domain name.

In the present dispute the Complainant contends that "BOURSORAMA" has no dictionary meaning and can therefore not be construed as generic. The Panel agrees that "BOURSORAMA" is a distinctive and non-descriptive trademark. The circumstances of the present dispute therefore differ from the circumstances in UDRP decision no. 101453. The Panel will hereafter examine whether the Respondent has provided any other evidence supporting the contention that the Respondent lacks rights and legitimate interests in the disputed domain name.

The Complainant contends that it is well-known for its business in online banking at least in France, where the Respondent also resides. The Complainant had over 1 million customers in January 2017 and a GOOGLE search of "BOURSORAMA" almost solely refers to the business of the Complainant. In addition to the above the Complainant underlines that the disputed domain name is almost identical to an active subdomain "CLIENTS.BOURSORAMA.COM" which belongs to the Complainant.

The Panel concludes that the addition of the letter "M" and the generic word "CLIENT" to the Complainant's trademark "BOURSORAMA" does not constitute a right or legitimate interest in the disputed domain name. The inclusion of the word "CLIENTS" in the disputed domain name supports the contention that the Respondent does not intend to use the disputed domain name to make a bona fide offering of goods or services or to make a non-commercial or fair use of the disputed domain name. The inclusion of the letter "M" can have various meanings, and the Complainant contends that it could mislead consumers to believe that the disputed domain name is the mobile website of the Complainant. The Panel agrees to this contention.

In addition to the above, the Complainant contends that the Respondent has no affiliation with nor is authorized by the Complainant and is in no way related to its business. The Complainant also contends that no trademark license has been granted to the Respondent.

The Complainant has to the satisfaction of the Panel made a prima facie case that the Respondent has no rights or legitimate interests in the disputed domain name. The Panel concludes that the Respondent's registration of the disputed domain name had been made in bad faith and to mislead consumers to believe that there would be an affiliation between the Respondent and the Complainant.

Based on the reasons set out above, the disputed domain name is to be transferred to the Complainant.

FOR ALL THE REASONS STATED ABOVE, THE COMPLAINT IS

AND THE DISPUTED DOMAIN NAME(S) IS (ARE) TO BE

1. M-CLIENTS-BOURSORAMA.COM: Transferred
