BAD FAITH

PROCEDURAL FACTORS

The Panel is satisfied that all procedural requirements under UDRP were met and there is no other reason why it would be inappropriate to provide a decision.

PRINCIPAL REASONS FOR THE DECISION

1. The disputed domain name is identical or confusingly similar to a trademark or service mark in which the Complainant has right

According to the Complainant, the disputed domain name incorporates in full the Complainant's trademark STAR STABLE. The addition of the associated term "game" and two hyphens does not distinguish the disputed domain name from the Complainant's STAR STABLE trademark. In fact, it rather enhances the impression that the disputed domain name is confusingly similar to the trademark of the Complainant. The generic Top-Level Domain extension, in this case ".com" is typically disregarded under the confusing similarity test, as it is a standard requirement for registration.

Therefore, the Complainant concludes and the panel agrees that the disputed domain name is confusingly similar to the Complainant's trademark.

2. The Respondent has no rights or legitimate interests in respect of the disputed domain name

The Complainant states that the Respondent has no authorization or license to register a domain name incorporating the Complainant's trademark. The Respondent is not affiliated with the Complainant in any way, nor is the Respondent commonly known by the name "Star Stable". The legal entity displayed in the Whois records is GDPR masked. According to the Complainant, should the Respondent have any legitimate interest in the disputed domain name, it would most likely not have chosen to register the disputed domain name anonymously.

The Complainant further states that the Respondent is using the disputed domain name for a website that has the look and feel of the Complainant's website. The design and layout are nearly identical and the Respondent is using the Star Stable logo frequently on the site. There is no prominent disclaimer that this is a fan site. Only a short text under "about us" states that the owners of the web site are fans. No contact information about the owner(s) of the site is shown.

According to section 2.7.1 of the WIPO Overview 3.0 for purposes of assessing fair use under UDRP paragraph 4(c)(iii), a respondent's fan site must be active, genuinely noncommercial, and clearly distinct from any official complainant site. The Complainant asserts that there is no plausible fair use of the disputed domain name here, because the impression is created that the disputed domain name is somehow connected to the Complainant.

The Panel finds that the Complainant has shown that the Respondent has not made legitimate use of the disputed domain name for a bona fide offering of goods or services. In lack of any Response from the Respondent, or any other information indicating the contrary, the Panel concludes that the Respondent has no rights or legitimate interests in respect of the disputed domain name.

3. The disputed domain name is registered and is being used in bad faith

The Complainant states that the Respondent uses a privacy shield and although use of a privacy or proxy registration service is not in itself an indication of bad faith, the manner in which such service is used can in certain circumstances constitute a factor indicating bad faith. The Complainant emphasized that a motive for using a domain privacy service in this instance has been to increase the difficulty for the Complainant to identify the Respondent, which does not reflect good faith.

The Complainant also states that the Respondent registered and uses the disputed domain name with the intention to attract Internet users to the website by creating a likelihood of confusion with the trademark of the Complainant as to the source, sponsorship, affiliation, or endorsement of its website or location or of a service on its website or location, which constitutes registration and use in bad faith pursuant to paragraph 4(b)(iv) of the Policy.

In lack of any Response from the Respondent, or any other information indicating the contrary, the Panel concludes that the Respondent has registered and used the disputed domain name in bad faith.

FOR ALL THE REASONS STATED ABOVE, THE COMPLAINT IS Accepted
