BAD FAITH

PROCEDURAL FACTORS

The Panel is satisfied that all procedural requirements under UDRP were met and there is no other reason why it would be inappropriate to provide a decision.

PRINCIPAL REASONS FOR THE DECISION

Identity (paragraph 4(a)(i) of the Policy)

The Panel finds that the domain name <schneider-electric.com> is confusingly similar to the Complainant's trademarks.

Firstly, the Complainant's trademarks are incorporated in the disputed domain name and in its entirety.

Secondly, in the Panel's opinion, the substitution of the letter "n" for a "u" does not prevent the similarity between the Complainant's trademarks and the aforementioned disputed domain name (WIPO Case No. No. D2016-1193, Sanofi, Genzyme Corporation v. Domain Privacy).

Moreover, the Panel has come to the conclusion that the hyphenation is insufficient to distinguish the Respondent's disputed domain name from the Complainant's trademark.

Thus, the Panel finds that disputed domain name is confusing and does not provide additional specification or sufficient distinction from the Complainant or its trademarks.

Absence of Rights or Legitimate Interests (paragraph 4(a)(ii) of the Policy)

The Complainant asserted that the Respondent has never been granted a license, or any other way been authorized, in order to register the disputed domain name. In addition, Complainant does not carry out any activity for nor has any business with the Respondent. Consequently, the Panel finds that the Respondent lacks any right or legitimate interest in using the disputed domain name.

The Panel also finds that the substitution of the letter “n” for a “u” makes the disputed domain name a typosquatted version of the trademark SCHNEIDER ELECTRIC. As shown by previous panels, typosquatting does not constitute a legitimate use of a trademark and domain name.

The disputed domain name resolves to a parking page, and Complainant contends that Respondent has no demonstrable plan to use the disputed domain name. The Panel finds that there is not any bona fide offering of goods or services associated with the disputed domain name by the Respondent. Therefore, the Respondent did not intend to use the disputed domain name in connection with any legitimate purpose.

Finally, the Respondent had the opportunity to provide its arguments in support of its rights or legitimate interests in the disputed domain name. However, by failing to file a response, the Respondent has missed this opportunity and the Panel is entitled to draw such inferences from the Respondent's failure as it considers appropriate in accordance with Paragraph 14 of the Rules.

Accordingly, the Panel finds that the Respondent has no rights or legitimate interests in respect of the disputed domain name.

Bad faith (paragraph 4(a)(iii) of the Policy)

In the light of the records, the Complainant showed the disputed domain name is consequently similar to the well-known SCHNEIDER trademark. The Panel finds that the Respondent cannot reasonably pretend he was intending to develop a legitimate activity through the disputed domain name, and the misspelling of the trademark SCHNEIDER ELECTRIC was intentionally designed to be confusingly similar with the Complainant's trademark. Arguably, the Respondent registered said domain name knowing that the trademark benefited from a worldwide reputation. Moreover, the time of the registration, namely March 2024, is well posterior to the registration of SCHNEIDER trademarks.

Therefore, it is clear to the Panel that the Respondent was well aware of the SCHNEIDER trademarks and has registered the dispute domain name with the intention to refer to the Complainant and to its trademarks.

Furthermore, it seems that the Respondent is using the dispute domain name in bad faith for the sole purpose to attract Internet users for commercial gain, by creating a likelihood of confusion with the Complainant's trademarks. Indeed, the disputed domain name, likely actively used for email purposes as evidenced by the MX Records, resolves to a parking page displaying a button “get started” to grow a business online, and which is likely to create revenue.

Therefore, Panel finds that the use of the disputed domain name incorporating a well-known trademark to divert Internet users and to direct them to a webpage providing revenues through click is evidence of bad faith under the Policy (WIPO Case No. D2007-0956, F Hoffmann-La Roche AG v. Anna Valdieri).

To the Panel's opinion, this shows that the disputed domain name was registered and is being used in bad faith.

FOR ALL THE REASONS STATED ABOVE, THE COMPLAINT IS
